The Developmental Pathways Project: Bridging the gap between researchers and government agencies to improve children's outcomes

Dr Melissa O'Donnell is a Psychologist and National Health and Medical Early Career Research Fellow at the Telethon Kids Institute, University of Western Australia. Melissa utilises linked government data from the Western Australian Departments' of Health, Child Protection, Education, Corrective Services and Disability Services to investigate outcomes and risk and protective factors for children who have experienced abuse and neglect. Melissa collaborates with government agencies to inform policy and practice with the aim of improving children's outcomes through prevention and early intervention.
